LOST ARTICLES

In case of loss of articles left in cars or at stations, notify the traffic department, giving time and date of loss and description of articles.

SIGNALLING CARS

Persons intending to board a car should signal the motorman of their intention of boarding the car.

The regular stopping points are designated by numbered sign boards or by stop signs. The proper method of signalling is to stand facing the direction from which the car is operating, at a distance of at least ten feet from nearest rail, extending the arms or by the waving of the hand.

At night it is advisable to signal with a lighted match or lantern.

Be certain that you are at a point which is an established stopping place and that you are standing at least ten feet from the nearest rail.

Cars stop at any point North of Weston on signal.
